A CONSTRUCTIVE STATESMAN

Republican Party Must Stand On His Election, Cabinet Officer Thinks.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Washington, D. C., April 6.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher, in an interview today, urged the re-nomination of President Taft. He said in part:

"I believe that the nominee should be President Taft.

"First, because he believes in popular government, to be achieved through the principles of representative Democracy only by means of which genuine and enduring popular government can be secured for the people.

"Second, because he has demonstrated constructive ability at a time when constructive statesmanship is needed as never before since the Republic was founded.

"Third, because on the principles which he has advocated and on the progress he has achieved the Republican party must stand at the election.

"His whole ambition has been and is to render disinterested and effect public service. His ideal of public service is the promotion of the welfare of the whole people. Under the most adverse conditions, in spite of misunderstanding, misrepresentation and abuse, he has shown courage, patience and ability and has made real and definite progress both in legislation and administration."

ANOTHER DECISIVE BATTLE

Federals Again Threaten Escalante Where Rebel Forces Are Concentrating.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Jimenez, Chihuahua, Mex., April 6.—Concentration of rebel forces here and south along the route to Torreon is the next point in the program of General Orozco, but it is not improbable that another battle will have to be fought in the neighborhood of Escalante.

Unofficially it is reported that the government troops are preparing another expedition into rebel territory from Torreon, where there are said to be some 1,500 federals, and approximately the same number of volunteers. The advance guard is said to be at Zavala.

Unless an unexpected clash with federals alters his plans, Orozco probably will hold Jimenez as a general base of operations against Torreon for some time, since between here and there, there is no suitable place, the region below Escalante being little better than a desert. General Salazar will be occupied for a few days in his chase of Colonel Villa, who fled from Parral towards Rosario. Villa, however, is no longer feared since it is known he had such a small body of troops. Thomas Urbina, formerly with him is believed to have united with General Tracy Aubert. Railway traffic with Parral will begin tonight.

Sentiment Against Rebellion.
Washington, D. C., April 6.—With one small exception, the reported capture of Topias by the revolutionists, the general trend of reports that reached the state department over night from its consular offices in Mexico, was in favor of the Madero government. At least three consuls, those in San Luis Potosi, Guanajuato and Zacatecas, wrote that the popular sentiment seems to be more favorable toward the federals.

The districts of Saltillo, Ensenada and Guadalupe, where there has been more or less turbulence, are now reported to be quiet. In Sonora revolutionists are beginning to appear and it is thought most of them have come from Chihuahua, which is the center of the rebellion. After some delay, owing to the interruption of communication, the state department has found out there was no warrant for sensational stories that American miners at Lluvia de Oro were in danger from the revolutionists.

American Charged With Smuggling.
Nogales, Ariz., April 6.—James Harris, a Pullman porter, running out of Los Angeles, was arrested aboard his car today by Mexican customs officials and charged with being an agent of the rebels in this city in the smuggling of munitions of war. The arrest was made after the officers had discovered secreted in Harris' car, a large quantity of rifle cartridges and (Continued on page four).

Disappointed Land Seekers.
Washington, D. C., April 6.—A vain vigil was that of land seekers who have stood in line in the North Yakima, Washington, land office since January, waiting the opportunity to file for irrigated fruit lands in the Tieton project. The reclamation service today announced that no advantage will be gained by early filing.

Patience Unrewarded.
North Yakima, Wash., April 6.—Eighteen men and women were camped before the door of the United States land office here when the news was brought to them this morning that their long vigil had been in vain.

Of this number sixteen had kept their places in line since December 26. They maintained their places in the hope that the government would change the method of assigning lands and that the first to file application for homestead would win first choice of the Teton lands.

House Takes a Fall Out of Randall.
Washington, D. C., April 6.—One of the most acrimonious debates heard in the House, this session was precipitated today when Representative Randall of Texas, Democrat, explained that he meant no reflection on members when he intimated in his speech of Thursday that a majority of the members of the House were engaged in employment that his anti-corruption retention fees bill would stop. Applause greeted the replies of Representatives Edwards Bartlett of Georgia, James of Kentucky, Clayton of Alabama, Democrats, and Hamilton of Michigan Republican, who virtually declined to accept his explanation.

SHORT SPEECH BY WILSON

"A Nation Does Not Grow From the Top, But From Bottom," He Said

PEOPLE ARE GROWING TIRED

Party Will Win That Works For Renewal of Power of United States.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Galesburg, Ill., April 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, in a short speech delivered here today, made an attack upon government for the interests, the present system of choice of candidates, the Republican tariff measures, and made strong appeal for the support of the voters at the preferential presidential primaries next Tuesday. He said:

"The people are tired of being governed for the especial benefit of interests and they are clamoring for a president who will take the lead and see that things are done for the benefit of the general public.

"All government needs to be taken back to the general public in frank confidence. A nation does not grow from the top, but from the bottom, and the future of America depends upon the men who are making the struggles rather than upon the men who have fought their way to the top.

"The question of the present time is not so much which party is going to win at the coming election, but which party is going to draw to itself the forces of the nation, and work for the renewal of the power of the United States."

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
San Diego, Calif., April 6.—Excitement ran high here this morning over the kidnapping of A. R. Sauer, editor of a weekly paper, because of the stand his paper had taken in the Industrial Workers of the World, "free speech" campaign in this city. Sauer was seized by six men in front of his home last night and whisked away in an automobile. No trace of the party could be found today.

Sauer's paper has denounced the police and citizens committees which have taken part in the deportation of industrial workers, many of whom have been driven from the city in the last few days. As the editor was about to enter his home, yesterday evening, an automobile stopped at the curb and six men leaped out and seized him. His cries and struggles aroused the neighborhood, but the editor had been hustled into the machine before any one could interfere, and the car, running without lights, vanished in the darkness.

Sauer's wife collapsed when she learned that her husband had been kidnapped and her condition is said to be critical.

San Diego Editor Found.
Escondido, Calif., April 6.—A. R. Sauer, the editor who was kidnapped in San Diego, thirty miles from here, last night, walked into this place today. He was uninjured, and had been set down outside the town by the motor car in which he was taken from San Diego. Sauer said he would not go back to San Diego at present. He did not believe he would be safe from the attacks if he did so, because of the attitude his paper had taken on the Industrial Workers of the World troubles here. He said he would go to Los Angeles.

Tension Over Outcome of Philadelphia Conference Begins to Be Felt.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
Philadelphia, Pa., April 6.—Fire continues to be drawn from under the collieries and more mules are being taken out of the mines in the Wilkes-Barre district of the anthracite coal region indicating that the suspension of mining will last longer than at first expected. Today ends the first week of idleness. The tension over the outcome of next week's conference in Philadelphia between the representatives of the men and the operators is beginning to be felt.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 6.—The work of organizing the non-union mine workers was pushed especially in the Schuylkill region. The big coal companies in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre regions paid the wages for the last two weeks in March. The men received big envelopes as the production of coal in March exceeded that of any month for more than a year. The union district officers said the men are better able now than at any previous time to meet demands through prolonged idleness.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
San Bernardino, Calif., April 6.—Two women, both formerly well to do, but now destitute, are here today seeking with the aid of the police, some trace of a man who, under the names of G. W. Keown, and James Clark, is said to have married each in turn, within a few weeks and then disappeared. The women are Mrs. Anna Brown, aged 55 years, of Ligonier, Indiana, and Mrs. Allen Wadsworth, aged 50 years of Newark, N. J.

Through a matrimonial agency, Mrs. Brown began a correspondence with the man some months ago. At his suggestion, she sold her home and went to San Diego. They went through a marriage ceremony there, and the man, then known as Keown, disappeared.

As Clark, he was at the same time conducting matrimonial negotiations with Mrs. Wadsworth, who came to this city a month ago. After another marriage ceremony, here the man deserted her.

Both women swore to complaints today and the police found in the alleged bigamist's effect many letters showing that he had been conducting similar operations for a long time, principally in coast cities, San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles.

FLOOD WARNING BY TELEPHONE

When Reelfoot Levee Broke People Fled With Live Stock

WATER CLAIMS FEW VICTIMS

Marooned Refugees on House Tops, Trees and Rafts Will Be Rescued.

(By Special Leased Wire to New Mexican)
The danger zone in the Mississippi flood district moved southward today, but keenest attention was directed toward the Reelfoot lake country in Tennessee, which was inundated last night, when the levee at Hickman, Kentucky, was breached. In the five hundred square miles of inundated country in northwest Tennessee, hundreds of persons were forced to flee before the floods rush and two children are said to have been drowned in Lake county. Advice received from several points in the afflicted district indicate that practically all the farmers and villagers escaped.

Two thousand Reelfoot refugees are at Tiptonville, and Ridgely. They have been provided with shelter and the state has been asked to send them food and clothing. Rescue parties have started out in boats to bring in persons who are marooned on house tops and rafts.

The greatest pecuniary loss has been sustained in the drowning of cattle. Many farm houses are under water but the loss from this source will not mount high. There were no crops in the fields, and planting had not been begun. The situation in the lower Mississippi valley continues serious. The flood strain was relieved somewhat by the levee break at Hickman, but much of the water now flooding the Reelfoot country eventually will get back into the river.

Tiptonville, Tenn., April 6.—Hundreds of refugees from the flooded Reelfoot Lake territory have gathered at Ridgely, where there is high ground. Practically all the livestock on the low lands of Lake county has been drowned, and it is reported two children of refugees lost their lives as they fled last night. When the levee near Hickman, Kentucky, broke yesterday afternoon, letting the flood waters of the Mississippi into the Reelfoot Lake country, the warning was flashed by telephone, and where wires did not reach, couriers were dispatched. Because of the break in the levee at Hickman, the Mississippi here is not rising this morning, the flood waters running through the lake country east of here.

Now it is feared there may be a break in the Mississippi levee on the state line. If this occurs, water will rush through the northwestern counties from two sources. Five hundred persons from the northwestern counties of Tennessee, made homeless by the flood, are seeking shelter here. Refugees arrived in boats, riding the crest of the flood wave.

Reports that there will be a big death list in the Reelfoot territory are not credited here. While many persons have been marooned on house tops, on anchored rafts, and possibly in tree tops, it is thought they will be rescued. There are 400 refugees at Ridgely, eight miles south of here. Shelter has been provided for the homeless in both towns. There probably will be a shortage of food, however, and the supply of bed clothing is short. An appeal has been sent to Governor Hooper asking that the state help feed the refugees and that supplies be sent to the highlands, where hundreds of cattle were driven before the Hickman levee broke.

The gradual spread of the water in Lake County is seen in a recorded rise of not more than four inches in the Reelfoot Lake last night at Tiptonville. The highest point, it is expected, will be reached today. All of Dyer county between Lake and Dyer, Tennessee, is submerged but the people escaped, most of them, it is said, with their live stock. Three villages in Lake county, are entirely under water and have been deserted by their inhabitants. They are Hathaway Reelfoot and Bessie.

Desperate But Hopeful.
Memphis, Tenn., April 6.—"The situation is desperate, but still we are hopeful," said O. N. Kilgough, president of the St. Francis levee board. "Extremely serious, but if the weather continues favorable we may be able to prevent crevasses," said Major Clara S. Smith, U. S. A. corps of engineers.

This is the Mississippi river flood situation as reviewed by men directing the fight from the Missouri state line to the mouth of White river, in Arkansas, that stretch of levee bearing the brunt of the battle with the waterway today. Except for the Reelfoot embankment, which went out late yesterday, all main levees are
